ROUTING THE REBELS

American Soldiers Clear Two Towns of Filipino Insurgents.

THE LOSS WAS LIGHT

The Enemy Made Strong Resistance and Had to Be Driven with Force—Loss to the Enemy Is Not Known.

Noveleta, Oct. 9.—General Schwan's column, consisting of the Thirteenth infantry, a battalion of the Fourteenth, with two troops of cavalry, Captain Reilly's battery F of the Fifth artillery and Lowe's scouts, advanced from Bacoor Sunday morning and occupied Cavite Viejo and Noveleta.

The American loss was 3 officers and 9 privates wounded, one of the officers being mortally hurt. The loss of the enemy is unknown. There were two sharp fights near Noveleta. Lowe's scouts first encountered the enemy near Cavite Viejo and soon put them to flight, continuing their advance.

Captain Safford's battalion of the Thirteenth regiment, with two companies of the Fourteenth and a number of Tangalos scouts, Captain McGrath, commanding the troops from the Fourth cavalry and Captain Keilly's battery, came upon the enemy in a strongly entrenched position on the road between Cavite Viejo and Noveleta. A fight lasting half an hour followed resulting in the enemy being driven back. The American forces sustained considerable losses in this engagement, the men being shot from the trenches and snags along the road. The column then pressed on to Noveleta, which they found deserted.

The marines and naval forces cooperated with the troops. The gunboats Wheeling, Petrel and Callao lay off the shore near Noveleta and threw shells into that town and Santa Cruz for an hour, preparing the way for the marines to land. Two battalions consisting of 450 marines, under Colonel Elliot, advanced along the peninsula from Cavite to Noveleta. The only way was by a narrow road through swamps.

A mile beyond the marine's outposts the column was suddenly received with a volley from trenches across the road. A flank movement was executed and the insurgents were driven from the trenches.

Strike at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex. Oct. 9.—Fifty-three miles of electric street railway traversing the heart and nearly every suburb of the city of San Antonio was effectively tied up all Sunday through a strike of Motormen and conductors of the San Antonio Street Railway company.

The strike is for nine hours work with the present rate of pay, ranging from $1.35 to $1.50 per day. The men now labor twelve hours a day.

Bull Fighting in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 9.—The first attempt to hold a bull fight here proved a fiasco. An immense crowd gathered about the bull ring near Doull. The first bull brought into the ring leaped the barrier and created a terrible panic among the spectators, injuring a dozen persons, some of them seriously. The bull then escaped to the country, where he was pursued by matadors and picadores and was finally dispatched.

Dog's Brave Deed.

Uhrichsville, O., Oct. 9.—James Brady, a bridge jumper of Pittsburg, traveling with a wild beast show, was fatally injured by making a high dive at Strasburg. His head struck the bottom of the tank, rendering him unconscious, and he was dragged out of water by his pet Newfoundland dog. Brady is paralyzed and the doctors say he will die.

The Yacht Races.

New York, Oct. 9.—By a mutual agreement between the representatives of the New York Yacht club and the Royal Ulster Yacht club, the Columbia and Shamrock will sail every day after next Thursday until the question of international yachting supremacy is established. Another race is to take place tomorrow.

Walter Wellman Return.

New York, Oct. 9.—Walter Wellman, the arctic explorer, who recently returned from a journey of exploration on the Franz Josef land, arrived here on the steamer Umbria. The severe injuries received from a fall in an ice crevasse still kept him upon crutches and he had to be assisted from the ship by his wife and a friend. The party proceeded to Washington.

Sold the Floating Dock.

Havana, Oct. 9.—The Spanish government has sold the floating dock for $900,000 to a syndicate of Vera Cruz merchants. Several New York firms have been asked for terms for conveying the dock to Vera Cruz. The purchasers wish to take it away about the beginning of next month.

Whole Block Burned.

Huntsville, Ala., Oct. 9.—A disastrous fire occurred here Sunday night. The blaze started in the Bennett livery stable and it almost instantly spread throughout the building. The flames were communicated to adjoining buildings and a whole block was destroyed. Loss about $75,000.

CHICAGO FESTIVITIES.

Prominent Men There to Take Part in the Exercises.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—More distinguished men are here attending the festivities of in connection with laying of the cornerstone of the new Federal building than has ever been in the city at one time before. They include President McKinley and most members of his staff: Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of the Dominion of Canada; Senor Mariscal, vice president of Mexico and party, and a host of public men.

Eight states and territories are represented by their governors and one more, Florida, by Colonel T. T. Wright, a member of the governor's staff, specially designated for the purpose. The governors here are Llewellyn Powers of Maine, A. E. Lee of South Dakota, T. T. Gear of Oregon, D. P. Richard of Wyoming, John R. Tanner of Illinois, M. A. Otera of New Mexico, C. M. Banning of Oklahoma and N. O. Murphy of Arizona.

CORNERSTONE IN PLACE.

The President Throws the First Mortar Under the Great Stone.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Surrounded by men who guide the diplomatic relations of three governments, and in the presence of thousands of spectators, President McKinley today formally laid the cornerstone of the magnificent new Federal building of Chicago. The event is the crowning feature of the week's celebration marking the annual observance of Chicago day.

Long before the hour set for the ceremonies the streets surrounding the block in which the steel Apuleon new building stands was packed to the curb with pushing, jostling people anxious to get a glimpse at the nation's president and distinguished visitors from other countries, while every window in the beautiful decorated sky scrapers surrounding the Federal building were taken advantage of. Even on the steel girders of the building itself were purchased hundreds of venturesome curiosity seekers. In an angle formed by the south and west wall of the Federal building at Jackson boulevard and Dearborn street and in front of the Union League club building, a reviewing stand had been erected for the accommodation of distinguished visitors, including Vice President Mariscal and party from Mexico, Premier Laurier of Canada and other notables of that country, members of President's McKinley's cabinet and diplomats of Washington, senators and congressmen and other invited guests, and when President McKinley threw the first trowel of mortar under the uplifted block of limestone and pronounced the cornerstone set, was one of the most notable gatherings Chicago ever looked on.

At 10 o'clock the roar of cheers from down Jackson Boulevard announced the coming of President McKinley and party. It was with considerable difficulty that troops of cavalry and the police forming the president's escort, could clear a space wide enough for carriages containing the president and members of his cabinet and guests to pass, and as the carriages slowly made their way up the boulevard towards the Federal building applause became terrific and continuous. The president often arose and doffed his hat in response. At the entrance of the Union League club the president and members of his party alighted, and after a brief reception were escorted across Jackson boulevard to the platform in front of the Federal building. A perfect hurricane of cheers greeted the president. The president warmly greeted the officials and then turned and bowed to the group of brawny armed workmen who were to complete the laying of the cornerstone.

Judge Christian C. Kohlsaat, chairman of the committee of ceremonies, introduced Secretary of the Treasury Gage as presiding officer for the cornerstone exercises. The secretary was warmly cheered and stepped forward and spoke impressively. At the conclusion of Secretary Gage's address, Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus offered prayer. Secretary Gage introduced Postmaster General Smith, and the actual ceremonies of the laying of the cornerstone then began. C. E. Ermer, secretary of the Federal committee, arose and formally announced the stone ready and read the list of articles placed within it.

President McKinley was introduced by Secretary Gage and as the president stepped forward to receive the trowel from the hands of Architect Cobb, the crowds again burst forth into cheer after Millinery Opening.

The annual fall opening of Mistror Bros. & Co's Millinery department took place yesterday, continuing last evening. As usual the whole of the mammoth establishment was tastefully decorated. A show window was one of the features of the display. The dress goods, cloaks, skirts, rugs and lace curtains shown were exceedingly handsome.

Up stairs in the millinery department, however, was found the center of attraction and this department was thronged with ladies throughout the day. Spanish turbans seem to lead in popularity this season. The popular colors are from delft to darker blue, with automobile red in different shades. Breasts, plumes, birds, wings, aigretts and furs are popular in trimmings. Velvet hats are very popular.

Among the noticeable patterns in hats were a breast toque in brown; green toque with violets and mink fur; black Spanish turban with wings and mink fur; delft blue round hat with aigretts, ornament, wings, lace and mink crown; large black hat with butterfly and chiffon, velvet ties; medium sized cerise with black plumes, black fancy breasts and tucked mouslin; dark gray toque with tucked pink taffeta and bird. The millinery department is in charge of Miss Burnham assisted by Miss Martin.

In the evening the attendance was very large, and music was supplied by the Harris band which made its first public appearance and was received with great favor and applause. The band boys have made remarkable progress since their organization and deserve great credit individually and collectively.

BRYAN IS SICK.

He Is Suffering From an Affection of the Throat and Lungs.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—A special to The Chronicle from Webster, Ia., says W. J. Bryan is a very sick man. Friends who have spent Sunday with him at the farm of Fred E. White, Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, three miles from Webster, are afraid that Mr. Bryan may have to temporarily abandon his campaign work not only in Iowa, but in Kentucky and Ohio.

When Mr. Bryan awoke Sunday morning he complained about his throat and lungs, but said he had suffered from a similar ailment once before and that it had yielded to treatment.

Great crowds of farmers from all over Keokuk county called at the White farm to see Mr. Bryan during the morning and afternoon, and although he tried hard to remain out doors, his physical weakness mastered his courage and he had to retire several times to his room. A local physician who was called in Sunday recommended a long term of absolute rest and quiet.

It is understood steps have been taken by interested friends to cancel Mr. Bryan's engagements, which include two and three speeches daily in a tour covering the width of Iowa, ending at Sioux City on Saturday.

Mayor Peabody Ousted.

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 9.—A decision of the Illinois supreme court ousted W. E. Peabody as mayor of this city and installed E. Bach. The failure of the former's attorneys to file the record of the appeal in the Bach-Peabody election contest caused the change. Mr. Peabody was elected mayor last spring by six votes. His opponent, Bach, contested the election in the circuit court and was declared elected by four votes. Peabody appealed the case, but the neglect of his attorney has precluded the possibility of a reversal of the decision.

The latter is still alive but was shot through the bowels and is reported dying. The negro was slightly wounded in the face.

Stabbing Affray.

The assassin surrendered himself to a watchman. He said Clark had slandered his wife and threatened to kill him on sight. Beilstein is believed to be insane. He is well known about the packing houses. He holds the championship record for dressing a beef.

Pardoned for Saving a Life.

Washington, Oct. 9.—For saving the life of an American soldier, Major General Otis has granted a full pardon to Domingo Manglo, a Filipino prisoner, who was sentenced by a special court in 1897 to penal servitude for six years for robbery. Manglo suffered confinement for the alleged offense four years prior to his trial and conviction. During the attack on Manila last February by insurgent sympathizers, the prisoner saved the life of an American soldier and the provost marshal general reported the prisoner had displayed good conduct during the time he had been under surveillance by Americans.

TO MY WIFE.

Love of my life when the day was young—
Care and sorrow to the winds we flung.
Hope painted to us a flowery way,
With never a cloud that obscured the day.
Pointed to the sky that was clear and blue.
Love of my life, you were always true.
Love of my life, our work is almost done.
The shadows are long from the setting sun.
The shuttle of life is weaving fast,
And the noon of life is already past;
Our tired hearts will rest at last,
Under the daisies and under the grass
Love of my life, as we passed along,
Bearing our burdens with jest and song.
In the winding pathway, in the noon's hot sun,
We toiled on, our work never done.
The siren hope whispered in our ears,
Bidding us bear all of the toil and tears,
Love of my life, we are no longer young,
Hope sings no more with a silver tongue,
We have traveled over the hills of life's way,
Trusting that at the end of the day
We could sit at peace, in the setting sun,
Love of my life, with our work all done.
Love of my life, we soon will be sleeping,
Over the hills dark shadows are creeping
All of our sorrows will have passed.
For in the night eternal, under the grass,
There never will be sorrow or mourning,
Never a night, and never a morning.
Love of my life, will we always slumber
On in days and nights without number;
Or will the stone be rolled away,
And we emerge with a perfect day
And sing our songs anew in another clime,
Love of my life, with your hand in mine?
Love of my life, will we live on forever
In the mystic land beyond the river?
Will we soar above the clouds on pinions white,
And bathe in flowing rivers of delight?
Will we rise where eternal splendors shine,
Love of my life, with your hand in mine?
Love of my life, will we enter in
The gates of pearl when freed from sin?
Will we have a house not made with hands,
And listen to the angelic bands,
To the harps of gold and cymbals chime,
Love of my life, with your hand in mine?

We have just received a new stock of delightful soaps, including Crushed Roses, Crushed Lillies, Crushed Lilacs, Crushed Violets and the well-known La Tosca. These goods are the very best, and cannot help please the most fastidious. Come to see me when you need SOAP.

TROUBLE IS FEARED.

The Condition of Affairs in Samoa Are Distrustful.

NATIVES PLOTTING.

The Charge Is Renewed that Germans on the Island Are Spreading Dissatisfaction Among the Mataafa Followers.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Some apprehension is felt in official circles over the condition of affairs prevailing in Samoa. The state department is without complete advice from Consul General Osborne regarding the situation but sufficient is known to make the authorities understand that the natives are again plotting. It is not believed, however, that there will be a return of the fighting which occurred last April, unless there has been a very recent importation of arms, which is expressly forbidden by the provisions of the Berlin treaty.

It will be recalled that when the Badger returned from Samoa she brought in her hold 1500 rifles belonging to the natives. These rifles are now in the armory at Mare Island, awaiting the disposition of Great Britain, Germany and the United States.

All three nations are represented by men-of-war in Samoan waters. The United States has the auxiliary cruiser Aberanda, under the command of Commander Tilley. The Aberanda was sent to Apia particularly to facilitate the establishment of a coaling station at Pago Pago, but it is presumed that Tilley has made arrangements to maintain communication with Consul General Osborne, and that in case of trouble will take station at Apia and provide protection for American interests.

The charge is renewed that Germans on the islands are spreading dissatisfaction among the natives, and it would not be surprising if certain of these men are plotting again with Mataafa, who has remained in Samoa.

The three governments have not yet formally adopted the recommendation of the high commission which investigated the Samoan question, nor are negotiations looking to this end likely to be set on foot until the return of Secretary Hay.

TEXAS' QUARANTINE.

Louisiana Resorts to the Courts to Have it Discontinued.

Austin, Oct. 9.—Attorney General Tom Smith and State Health Officer Blunt will leave at once for Washington to represent Texas in her interests called in question by the following telegram received this morning:

"New Orleans, La., Oct. 8, 1899.—Hon. Joseph D. Sayers, governor of Texas, Austin, Tex.: You are respectfully notified that on next Monday, Oct. 16, the state of Louisiana will apply to the supreme court of the United States for a preliminary injunction to restrain the state of Texas, Joseph D. Sayers, her governor, and her health officer, William K. Blunt, from establishing and maintaining an embargo on interstate commerce between the state of Louisiana and the state of Texas operated under the guise of quarantine. MILTON J. CUNNINGHAM, 'Attorney General of Louisiana.'"

An Old Banker Dead.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—George Smith who died at the Reform club, London, last Saturday, was a Chicago banker in 1834. A few years before he had left Aberdeen, Scotland, with a few thousand dollars and landed in New York. He traveled by canal to Buffalo, where he spent the winter. He went from Buffalo to Detroit, and then came by stage to Chicago, where he opened a bank. He prospered and in a short time induced the late Alexander Mitchell, afterward for many years president of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road, to come to this country from Scotland. Smith sent Mitchell to Milwaukee to look after his real estate interests. Former United States Senator C. B. Farwell was cashier in Smith's Chicago bank, which was the first legitimately conducted bank in Chicago and the west. The dead banker is said to have been worth $20,000,000. His heirs are all in England and Scotland.

New Orleans Registration.

New Orleans, Oct. 9.—The registration books for the municipal election show the white registration to be 38,226, and colored, 1,358, or a total of 39,584. There is an impression that the registration roll as it stands is larger than it should be. This is based on the supposed white population of the city. It indicates there is a registration of more than one voter in five or five and a half in population, common average unless total white population has been underestimated in the past. Of course, the revision of the books may cut the number down, but the erasures of many names may not indicate fraud attempted.

Orphanage Property Sold.

New York, Oct. 9.—It is announced that the Roman Catholic orphan asylum property, occupying a block on Fifth avenue, adjoining St. Patrick's cathedral, and valued at $2,750,000, has been sold to a capitalist who will erect a great hotel of the Waldorf-Astoria type. It is also stated that Elbridge T. Gerry has begun the erection of a large hotel on the site of the Windsor hotel, which burned last March.

ONLY WAY FOR PEACE.

Kruger to Disarm His People, Grant the Franchise and Pay Indemnity.

New York, Oct. 9.—A special to The World from London says the British correspondent hears that the British commissioner of South Africa is authorized to notify President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, that a peaceful settlement of the Transvaal difficulty can be made if President Kruger will disarm the people, grant the desired franchise to outlanders and pay the indemnity cost of her military operations which now will be less than $1,000,000.

Rumors are again prevalent that Lord Salisbury is working for peace. It is the evident determination of the Boers to act strictly on the defensive, coupled with a knowledge that now the British army corps cannot advance on Pretoria before the middle of December, and exercising a calming influence on the public feeling, the feeling engendered by the jingo press subsiding and the expectation is beginning to be generally expressed that hostilities may be avoided after all.

An act of aggression on the part of the Boers may change the whole aspect of affairs, but at present the tendency is toward a resumption of efforts to obtain a pacific solution of the difficulty. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's declaration that diplomatic means are not exhausted is sinking into public mind, and when parliament meets Mr. Chamberlain will be severely pressed to justify his conduct of negotiations. With the long lapse of time unavoidable before British operations can begin, the chances of settlement obviously are considerable.

The vastness of Great Britain's military preparations are seemingly out of all proportions to the work in hand in South Africa, was not fully realized by the public until the war office announced that 25,000 reserves had already been summoned to rejoin colors. As a matter of fact, General Sir Redvers Fuller has in command twice as many British soldiers as the duke of Wellington, conqueror of the first Napoleon, ever saw on one battlefield. The reasons back of this lavish display is probably the fear of the natives rising and possibly the conviction of advisability of showing Europe that Great Britain is prepared to resent any reaction resulting from the prevailing continental illwill.

In this connection the action of the American department of state and the friendly statements of President McKinley and Secretary of State Hay, published here, are heartily welcomed as a happy return for Great Britain's refusal to sanction interference in the Spanish war.

WILLING TO FIGHT.

Offers Made at Havana to Help British Fight the Boers.

Havana, Oct. 9.—Several hundred persons, including a large number of teamsters, have made an offer to Mr. Griffith, acting British consul general, of their services in South Africa. Some of these persons are English, but a majority are Americans. They have no organization and the offers are seldom made by more than three persons together.

An attempt will shortly be made to connect Havana and Key West by the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy. It is claimed that if this is successful, it will reduce the expense of cabling to New York more than half.

The El Epoca says:

"Contact with a race which does not tolerate the shirking of daily labor and among which, before everything, a man is the legitimate child of his own merits and his own deeds, must be to us a powerful stimulant for discarding once and forever the accumulation of habits which constitute the unfortunate inheritance of a regime based upon the exploitation of the negro by the white, and of the native born white by the peninsular white and all by the government."

"The sanitation of our cities by American methods has been productive of untold benefits, and who is capable of calculating the benefits which will be obtained by the cleansing of our conscience?"

Regarding the remarks of Senor Collazo about the Cubans pulverizing a European power, the Apoca says:

"If forty years hence we will be willing to confess that, while we were able to gain victories over hunger, thirst, weariness and the rigors of the climate, to the American army and navy is due the victory over the Spanish, why not be honest and confess it now?"

Defrauding the Government.

New York, Oct. 9.—Freeman Strait, a well known real estate and insurance agent, with an office on Lower Broadway, has been arrested, charged with defrauding the government by selling war revenue stamps chemically restored after cancellation. It is stated by treasury special agents that Strait and his associates have cheated the government out of $100,000. Strait, they say, has been clearing $2000 a week. At his home were found a large number of stamps in various stages of restoration, also the chemicals used in the process.

Verdict of Not Guilty.

Kaufman, Tex., Oct. 9.—The jury in the case of Bob Gibb, charged with the murder of Will Dee, returned a verdict not guilty.

George T. Rich Dead.

Denver, Oct. 9.—George T. Rich, the millionaire hardware dealer of this city, died here of kidney complaint, aged 70 years.
